

{YOUR} INTEGRATED SYSTEMS PARTNER.

Fairchild Communication Systems is at the forefront of providing integrated voice, data, video, and security technology solutions. Since 2001, we've worked closely with architects, engineers, general contractors, and electrical contractors to be a strong construction partner. We understand that your successful projects require great technology solutions and project management and installation expertise to bring projects in on time and on budget.

We have the design expertise to be a great design/build partner and we choose quality driven manufacturers that stand behind their products and support our efforts in the field. When your projects are complete, our dedicated service department is on call to provide continued support.

We understand technology. We understand construction. We strive to be your partner of choice!
